A new leader... Paehokee Middle/Sr. High School Principal May Gamble said she wants to be involved with all of the students at the school. She said she is also interested in helping each student individually become the best that they can possibly become. She is shown here conferring with two students about life at PMSH.

New principal enjoys decision making

Tammy Jackson

When the position of principal of Paehokee High School became available, Mrs. May Gamble said she rallied for it for numerous reasons. Two of the most common reasons of hers are "I like the small-town atmosphere" and "I had read about a lot of exciting things that were happening at Paehokee Middle/Sr. High School".

A resident of West Palm Beach and former assistant principal at Forrest Hill High School, Mrs. Gamble had been in the classroom setting for 15 years before becoming an administrative leader. She said she chose to be an administrator because she felt she could be more useful to students if she was involved in the decision making.

A 1968 graduate of Florida Agricultural and Mechanical University, Tallahassee, Mrs. Gamble's first teaching job was at Roosevelt Middle/Sr. High School as a ninth grade Civics instructor.

Mrs. Gamble majored in psychology and social science in undergraduate school. She received her Master's degree from NOVA University, and she also received a Specialist in 1981 from NOVA.

According to Mrs. Gamble, "I have been treated warmly by the leaders in the community, the students and the teachers."

Mrs. Gamble serves on the Board of Directors for the Florida Association for Supervision Curriculum Development. She is also an active member of St. Paul AME Church, West Palm Beach.

When contemplating the PHS principal position, Mrs. Gamble said, "I knew they (PMHS) had teachers who seemed to care about the students."

Western communities create "Name the Region" campaign

A newly-formed consortium of chamber of commerce executives and tourism interests is announcing a "Name Our Region" contest.

A variety of prizes will be offered by the participating chambers for the lucky person whose entry is selected as the best overall to name the region of Palm Beach County which includes Wellington, Royal Palm Beach, points north and south out to the lake communities of Paehokee, Belle Glade, South Bay and Clewiston.

The newly-organized group is seeking an inclusive name which will be used in marketing and advertising to promote the region as a tourism destination.

A variety of prizes are being donated by area businesses to the winner of this contest. The entrants to the contest should keep in mind the many activities enjoyed in the western communities, including an number of equestrian festivals, Palm Beach Polo, trap and skeet shooting club, camping, fishing and other outdoor pursuits can easily identify and understand the area.

The area will continue to be promoted within the overall umbrella of the Palm Beach County tourism marketing effort. I believe it's an exciting new day for the Glades area!"

Entries for the contest must be submitted in writing on 8 1/2x11 paper no later than Feb. 28, 1995. Mail entries to: Ms. Leigh Woodham, Executive Director of the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce, 540 South Main Street, Belle Glade, FL 33430. The winner will be chosen the first week of March.

The Silver Beaver award, the highest honor given a citizen by the Boy Scouts of America, was bestowed upon Steve Weeks, (left), by Reginald Knight, scout executive director for the Gulf Stream Council. Mr. Weeks, who is also the mayor for the City of Belle Glade, was given a medalion, a plaque and a pin.

Comm. Smith to receive opposition in election

Tammy Jackson
Staff Reporter

Willie C. Styles recently qualified to oppose Commissioner Miranda Smith in the upcoming South Bay commission election. Comm. Smith is seeking her second term in office.

The 47-year-old funeral home attendant said he wants to serve on the commission because he is interested in cleaning up the city. He also said he wants to see the citizens in the community become involved in the city's decision making.

According to Mr. Styles, "I feel the politics in South Bay need to be given back to the community."

He said if he is elected to serve the citizens, he plans to create a community concern group of 10 people or more. He said these persons will represent the entire community at commission meetings.

He also said he is interested in building some sort of recreation area for the youth and forming a little league baseball team.

Mr. Styles has been a resident of South Bay for 15 years. He is a 1966 graduate of Lake Shore High School. He also attended Broward Community College. He is active with the Boy Scouts of America.

Mr. Styles went on to say his campaign platform will involve the public. "It (this city) needs to be a city of togetherness," he said.

Commissioner Michael Jackson and Vice Mayor Basil Anderson were also up for re-election, however they received no opposition.

34 new low-income single-family homes to be built in Belle Glade

By Brenda Bunting
Editor

Thirty-four homes for those with low to moderate income will be built in the next six months in Belle Glade.

The three and four bedroom homes will be built in Raiderville and between Eighth and Ninth Street.

According to John Brown, director for NOAH (Neighbors Organized for Adequate Housing), this is an important step for those who can now afford to own their own home.

"It's always been the vision of NOAH that we would transfer people from apartments to single-family home ownership. That way they are able to share the American dream of owning a home," he said.

The engineering work is already being done for the new homes and Mr. Brown said financing is available. "We've been working on this for two to three years now," he said.

The Federal Home Loan Board Consortium for Affordable Homes, Inc., made up of 13 banks, will handle the financing," he added.

In Raiderville, the area will be a gated community with 13 home sites. Down payments for the homes are expected to be as little as $2,000.

"As soon as we get 21 qualified buyers, we will start construction," said Mr. Brown. "They could be in their new home in six months."

The three and four bedroom homes feature two baths and are designed for larger families.

Mr. Brown said the homes will cost under $60,000, not including the land, and some applicants may be eligible for a subsidy to help them purchase a home.

To qualify, an applicant must be a first-time home buyer and show proof of income. There is a pre-qualifying fee.

"This will be a boost to the city's economy," said Mr. Brown. "And it's good news for the community."

For more information, call Mr. Brown at 996-2300.

Mayor Weeks presented Silver Beaver Award

By Brenda Bunting
Editor

The highest honor given by the Boy Scouts of America to a volunteer was bestowed upon Steve Weeks last week.

Mr. Weeks, who is also the mayor for the City of Belle Glade, was presented the Silver Beaver Award for his involvement in scouting and in his community.

Reginald Knight, scout executive for the Gulf Stream Council of Boy Scouts of America, presented the award to Mr. Weeks at the noon Rotary Club meeting Feb. 7.

"I've known Steve ever since he started in scouting over 15 years ago," said Mr. Knight. "It's the first time in quite some time for a Glades resident to get the award. I'm happy for Steve," he added.

Mr. Weeks currently serves as a member of the District Committee and Advisory Board. He has served as Council Camporee Chairman, District Advancement Chairman, Friends of Scouting Chairman, Scout Show Committee member, Nominating Committee Chairman, District Committee Chairman, as well as serving on the Executive Board. He received the District Award of Merit in honor of his service to youth and the Glades District.

Mr. Knight said Mr. Weeks is very active in the community, in addition to handling the major job of mayor for them city.

He has served as Director and President of the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce. He is presently serving his third term on the city council and is a deacon of the First Baptist Church as well as chairman of the Church Training Program. He is a member of the Rotary Club, past president of the Kiwanis Club, past chairman of the Mental Health Association and past chairman of the Black Gold Jubilee.

He services on the steering committee of Leadership Glades, Palm Beach Planning Committee for roads and umpires little league baseball games. He served on the board of Glades Day School and chairman of the Association of Retarded Citizens. He is a Gideon speaker, member of the Audubon Society, Botanical Society and U.S. Army Reserve.

Grammy award winning singers "Sweet Honey in the Rock" to perform at the Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center

The internationally renowned African American women's a capella quintet "Sweet Honey in the Rock" of Washington, D.C. will be presented in concert at 8 p.m., Tuesday, Feb. 28, at the Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center in Belle Glade.

This concert, sponsored by the Zora Neale Hurston Roof Garden Museum with support from Cellular One, the Palm Beach Post, The Palm Beach County Tourist Development Council and the Florida Department of Cultural Affairs, is presented in honor of Black History Month and is one of 200 concerts planned for 1995 by the group, celebrating its 21st year singing.

Sweet Honey in the Rock is not just a singing group, they are a traveling and community-based cultural institution, dedicated to the preservation and celebration of African American culture through their performances.

Performing with voice and hand and foot percussions, this ensemble challenges and refreshes contemporary concepts of an evening of concert music. Their repertoire includes spirituals and hymns, gospel and quartet songs, love songs that range from soothing sultry ballads and hot torchy declarations to heartbreaking blues, and the songs that document events and issues of the day.

Sweet Honey in the Rock has been awarded Best Women's Album in 1979, and Best Gospel Album in 1985 by the National Association of Independent Record Distributors. In 1989, the group received a Grammy for their performances on the Smithsonian Folkways/Columbia recording "Vision Shared."

Tickets are $10 general admission, $15 reserved seating and $5 children's tickets. They may be purchased at the museum's office, located at 316 S.W. Martin Luther King Blvd., Suite 102, Belle Glade.

For additional information, call the Hurston Museum at 407-996-2161.

Researchers try to explain a sudden and without warning, 9 foot wave

By Mike Lyons

Something wasn't right. In fact, Florida's weather was downright weird. It was July 3, 1992 and there wasn't a cloud in the sky.

Clear skies in the winter are a common occurrence around here but not in the heat of summer. We always have clouds during the summer months and we almost always have rain. Today was different. Something wasn't right.

Not many people questioned the extraordinary weather, though. Instead, they were enjoying the sunshine and the hot temperatures. Beaches were packed, especially Daytona Beach. Hundreds of people flocked to the world famous beach to enjoy the day before the Fourth of July.

By 10:30 that evening there were still about 100 people on the beach at Daytona. Suddenly, without warning, a 9 foot wave of water swept across the beach. The large wave only lasted one minute. When it was over 75 people were injured and dozens of vehicles were damaged or destroyed.

Where did the wave come from? That's a question researchers and scientists have been trying to answer for over two years.

Initially, some experts thought it must have been an earthquake out in the ocean. Earthquakes deep below the water of the Pacific Ocean do spawn a large ocean wave called a tsunami. Yet, no seismic activity was reported.

Maybe a large thunderstorm had created the wave. There were a few thunderstorms well offshore that night but at Daytona Beach the sky was clear. And, wouldn't a thunderstorm create more than one wave? Wouldn't the winds increase, too?

Lots of questions but not many answers. Until now. Dean Churchill, Sam Houston and Nicholas Bond think they have come up with a solution to the mystery. The researchers believe it was a thunderstorm that created the wave.

Writing in the January edition of the Bulletin of the American Meteorological Society, the trio reports that a squall line several miles offshore of Daytona Beach created the wave. "Large, unexpected waves from nonseismic sources have been documented before," said Mr. Houston, who works at the Hurricane Research Division in Miami. "Back in 1954, a large wave hit the Chicago waterfront," he said. "Six people were drowned in the 8 foot wave."

Mr. Houston said that several hours before the wave hit Daytona Beach, a large squall line of thunderstorms developed in Southeast Georgia, not far from Jacksonville.

"This squall line moved south throughout the evening," he said. "About one hour before the wave hit, the thunderstorm was about 40 miles offshore."

Even though the squall line was miles away, Mr. Houston,

Mr. Churchill and Mr. Bond believe it created the wave of water. "This may be the best example of what we call a shallow water gravity wave," Mr. Houston said. "It may seem unusual but we believe it could happen again. Daytona Beach's shallow water along with the frequency of summer thunderstorms mean a shallow water gravity wave could recur in the future."

The trio plan to continue their study of this unique phenomena. I don't know about you, but if there is a perfectly sunny day this summer I won't be going to the beach.

ach virus" or a 24-48 hour "bug"? Did you ever wonder why it seems to re-occur at frequent intervals? During my years in nursing, I've run across several interesting facts regarding the transmission of germs. Of course, the main method of preventing infection is the "tried and true" HAND-WASHING. Especially when one member of a family is ill, everyone else should be very conscious of washing their hands frequently.

When was the last time you bought a new toothbrush? Does your old faithful brush look like you've been scrubbing floors with it daily? The American Dental Association recommends that your toothbrush be replaced at least every two or three months. It is a breeding ground for bacteria and can be the cause of many relapses of illnesses.

One of the main culprits for "bug growth" in the kitchen is the infamous can opener!! Each time you open a can, a residue of food remains on the metal wheels, and after a while, all that begins to rot. Then when a new can of something is opened, it becomes contaminated with the "rot" and sounds appetizing? I think not!

Wooden cutting boards are terrific breeding grounds for salmonella bacteria which grows on processed chickens. Make sure if you use a cutting board, it is scrubbed with soapy, hot water after each use. A separate one for veggies would be ideal.

Another source of grimy germs is the ever-popular telephone. Take a good look at the ear and mouth piece of your phone, and clean it regularly with a disinfectant or alcohol to sanitize it. Can you imagine the yucky germs that are trapped inside all those little holes?

The last area I want to address is the bathroom. All of us know how filthy our "necessary" rooms can get. Don't be afraid to clean it several times a week, and don't spare the bleach. The germs that grow in our sinks and toilets are hearty and very prolific, and they can make us very sick. Many of the illnesses associated with E. coli bacteria could be prevented with adequate hand-washing after using the bathroom. Also, it is recommended that your toothbrush be at least six feet from the toilet---I'll let you guess why. (Hint---we don't want to brush our teeth with toilet water).

So, until next time, stay informed and stay healthy.

Paula Swaford, R.N. is the administrator of First American Home Care of Belle Glade.

West Technical Education student receives award

Carla Little, a residential electrical wiring high school student at West Technical Education Center, has been selected as Region 5 Outstanding Female Secondary Non-traditional Student of the Year by the Florida Vocational Education Equity Association and the University of Central Florida.

Miss Little will receive a $250 savings bond and will represent Region 5 at the state level competition Feb. 13-17. State winners will be announced in March. The state winners will receive a $500 savings bond.

Miss Little attends West Technical Education Center as an 11th grader and is also enrolled at Glades Central High School. She is a morning student in the vocational class and attends academic classes in the afternoon. She is an honor roll student at both schools and is also heavily involved in extracurricular activities.

Miss Little was nominated by her Residential Electric Wiring Instructor, Dave Gallo. Mr. Gallo said she was nominated because of her willingness to learn the basics to be prepared for any endeavor in a technical field.

Belle Glade Fire Rescue to offer CPR training

Each year cardiovascular disease accounts for hundreds of thousands of deaths, many due to heart attack, according to the American Heart Association.

About two-thirds of deaths from heart attack occur before the victim reaches the hospital. Many of these deaths can be prevented if the victim gets prompt help, if someone trained in CPR provides life-saving measures until trained professionals take over.

According to Belle Glade Fire Chief Tony Tuliano, after cardiac arrest, promptly initiated CPR may return victims to productive life. Without CPR, permanent brain death due to a lack of oxygen will occur. Speed in getting specialized medical care for victims and in starting CPR is the key to saving lives.

In responding to this, the City of Belle Glade Fire Rescue Department will be conducting CPR training for the citizens of Belle Glade.

The fire department has instructors who are trained to deliver the American Heart Association's Adult and Pediatric Heart Saver CPR Courses. Anyone interested in learning CPR, or who wants to refresh their skills, should contact Lorrie Crawford or Chief Tuliano at 996-2022.

Carla Little

He said Miss Little has the ability to perform tasks that require extraordinary skills in combining the use of building and electrical codes with hands on work.

This includes bending conduit, installing cables, condu-

Is West Tech closing?

Here we go again. West Technical Education Center is fighting for survival.

West Tech is in the middle of a take-over situation by the School of CHOICE.

They are planning to shut down the facility in Pahokee and take over West Tech as their new facility which means there will be no adult vocational training available in this area.

They also plan to build a gym and fitness center on the property adjacent to West Tech that was once considered unsafe for Glades Central (because the land is contaminated) as well as the proximity of Glades Correctional Institution was also considered unsafe.

I guess the children going to CHOICE don't count like the ones going to Glades Central.

If anyone in the surrounding communities does not see the need for technical education, they are only fooling themselves. Not all of our children are going to go to college. In this day and age it takes more than a high school diploma to get and keep jobs.

There are those in this community who have been laid off and need to re-train, and for those of us who are already employed that need to upgrade our skills in order to keep our positions need to look real hard at this situation, because once West Tech is gone, so are a lot of our choices. Dr. Boil and Mr. Antoine Russell say that there will still be technical training available on a part-time or limited basis, but be very careful as to what these two men say.

Editor's note: This Speak Out was edited. We received it too late for publication in last week's newspaper. Included in the caller's message was the information about the Feb. 14 meeting scheduled by the school board to discuss this matter. Please see our front page story for information on what was discussed at this meeting.

How can they get away with that?

I'm confused, but not amused. Can some attorney explain how the recent escapees from Glades Correctional Institution can plead "not guilty" to escape charges?

Common logic prevents me from understanding "the law". Help!

Editor's note: In response to last week's comment in Speak Out concerning the wording "X-Mas Boxes Only" on City of Belle Glade dumpsters, the city said they will change this message for the 1995 holiday season to read "Holiday Boxes Only."

WEDDING GOWNSGuess who's after your pension money

By John R. Smith

In this era of economic uncertainty at least you can count on your pension plan, right? Well, maybe not. Just when you thought it was safe to make serious plans about your eventual retirement, it seems that President Clinton and some of his appointees have concocted a scheme to try to grab some of the $3.4 trillion invested in private pension funds.

According to an article in the Oct. 31, 1994 Business Week, Alicia Munnell, a Clinton appointee to the Department of Treasury, recently put forth a plan "to invest pension funds in public infrastructure and public education" to "increase the resources available for future generations."

Ms. Munnell's idea was to get the tax code changed so that the contributions you and your employer make to your pension plan would count as taxable income. Also, she wanted you to have to pay taxes each year on the earnings that accumulate on your pension funds.

But wait, there's more! To "catch up" for those years that your money was not taxed, Ms. Munnell suggested that her plan be implemented with a one-time confiscation of 15 percent of all existing pension fund assets. (Where does President Clinton find these people?)

Fortunately, Ms. Munnell's ideas were considered too extreme even for the zealous redistributionists that haunt official Washington and her plan has been quietly put on the shelf...for now.

However, the lure of all that money is just too strong to ignore.

According to the Washington Post, in recent testimony before Congress, Labor Secretary Robert Reich said that "pension funds represent the biggest pool of money in the country and in a time of tight government budgets (they) should be mobilized to help create jobs and address social needs."

Backing up his words with action, Secretary Reich this past summer issued new regulations that allow pension fund managers to sidestep "prudent man" guidelines when making investment decisions and, instead, to consider putting pension monies into something called "economically targeted investments" (ETIs). And, just what is an ETI? An ETI is something Washington defines as a "socially useful" public project; public housing, for example.

Should your pension money be invested in ETIs? A recent Wall Street Journal column on this topic cited a 1983 study by the very same Alicia Munnell, who then worked for the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston. "Munnell found that public employee (pension) plans with targeted or social investments had assets that were significantly riskier, less liquid and earned lower yields."

A decade later, according to an article in The Senior American, a study by Roberta Romano of Yale Law School found that, when "political" plan has been quietly put on influence on investment decisions of public employee pension funds increased, the return on those investments decreased."

And, even worse than lower yields, consider what happened to the Kansas Public Employee Retirement System (KERS). According to the referenced Business Week article, KERS had to write off some $200 million in failed ETI investments that had been made in public housing projects.

That was money right out of the pockets of Kansas' public employees; not exactly what most people want to see happen to their pension investments!

And this Kansas example is not unique - there are numerous cases around the country of losses resulting from investments in such "socially useful" projects.

So, what can you do to make sure your pension funds are invested in accordance with time-honored principles, rather than be invested in "socially useful" ETIs?

Two things: (1) Alert your coworkers and your employer about this issue and (2) make sure your employer knows that you want your company's pension money invested for the benefit of the employees, not for the benefit of Washington's social engineers. It's your money.

Florida Buck Registry can score deer of your dreams

You bagged the buck deer of your dreams this season, and you want to know your prize compares with other trophy bucks. If that's the case, you need to have your buck's rack scored by the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission's Florida Buck Registry.

To qualify, your buck's typical rack must score a minimum of 100 inches based on the Boone and Crockett measuring method. Non-typical racks must score 125 points.

"The program is two-fold," said Lt. Jim Huffstodt, the GFC's public information coordinator in the Everglades Region. "The program provides recognition to hunters who have taken a trophy buck, and it helps educate the public about the need to conserve habitat for deer and other wildlife."

Huffstodt said hunters can qualify for the program only if the deer was taken in Florida by a legal method. Deer taken in past years are also eligible for inclusion.

Volunteers in the GFC's Wildlife Reserve Program have been trained to measure the racks. Reservists have scored more than 2,200 sets of antlers since the program began in 1982. There is no charge for the service.

Larry Furr holds the state record for typical antlers. His 14-point buck was taken in Gadsden County in 1977, and scored 168 and 1/8 points. Clark Durrance holds the record for non-typical antlers with a 25-point buck taken during the 1940's in Wakulla County which scored 201 and 3/8 points.

Mr. Huffstodt said white-tailed deer in South Florida don't usually produce trophy racks. However, G.P. Holy took a buck in St. Lucie County in 1978 which scored 145 points for a typical rack.

The non-typical record is held by David Wilson whose buck taken in Indian River County during 1986 scored 128 and 4/8 points.

Sportsmen interested in the Florida Buck Registry Program can arrange to have racks scored by contacting the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, Everglades Regional Headquarters, 551 N. Military Trail, West Palm Beach, 33415. The telephone number is 407-640-6100.

Residents interested in receiving printed information on the Agriculture Reserve and the proposed ballot issue can also call these numbers for publications.

Event for Black History Month

Palm Beach Community College, Glades Campus, is planning a fashion show in honor of Black History Month.

Student organizations at the campus are sponsoring an international luncheon featuring an African-American fashion show on Feb. 28. The event will be held in Room 122 at noon.

The campus is located at 1977 College Drive in Belle Glade.

The 'What will Bubba do?' contest

The Belle Glade Branch Library and the Western Palm Beach County Mental Health Association are sponsoring a "What will Bubba do?" contest.

Kids ages 7-18 are asked to write a one page story about Bubba, the fish on the Belle Glade Library wall mural.

Prizes will be awarded for the most creative. The contest ends Feb. 21, and winners will be announced at the Mural Dedication on Feb. 25 at 2 p.m.

Complete contest rules are available at the Belle Glade Library. For more information, call the library at 996-3453.

Environmental Awareness Day

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, South Florida Operations Office announces the 9th Annual Take Pride in Lake Okeechobee Environmental Awareness Day.

The event will take place at the Corps of Engineers South Florida Operations Office, 525 Ridgevalley Road, Clewiston, on Saturday, April 1, 8 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The event will begin with registration from 8 to 8:30 a.m. Morning activities include tree planting, litter pick-up, construction of bird houses and feeders, and trail maintenance around various locations of the Florida National Scenic Trail. All volunteers will be able to enjoy a free hamburger cookout at 11:30 a.m.

The afternoon will be highlighted by guest speakers and an awards ceremony.

Chris Stratton from Friends of the Bald Eagle will present a slide program at noon and Tim Williams from Gatorland, Orlando will display several specimens of poisonous and non-poisonous snakes and an alligator. The Fun Van will also be on hand for the children.

The afternoon will come to a close at 1:30 p.m. with an awards ceremony for volunteers and participants of the water safety poster contest.

Pre-registration for groups or individuals is recommended and appreciated. There is no admission fee. Registration forms are available at the South Florida Operations Office.

For more information, or to pre-register, contact Park Ranger Tammy Eller at 813-983-8101.

Season to open

Archery and muzzleloading gun hunting season will open Feb. 16 in the Northwest Hunting Zone. The season ends on Feb. 26. Only bows and arrows (excluding cross bows) or muzzleloading guns may be used during this season.

Besides a hunting license, bow hunters will need an archery stamp and black powder hunters will need a muzzle loading gun stamp.

Hunters may take deer having one or more antlers at least five inches in length visible above the hairline; wild hogs having a shoulder height of 15 inches or more (in areas where hogs are legal game) and small game.

The daily bag limit for deer is two with a possession limit of four. Bag limits for other game are: wild hogs - daily limit one, possession limit two; fox squirrels (except on wildlife management areas) - daily limit two, possession limit four; gray squirrels, quail and rabbits - daily limit 12, possession limit 24. There are no bag limits for raccoons, opossums, coyotes, nutria, skunks and beavers. Regulations may differ on wildlife management areas.

The event will take place at the Corps of Engineers South Florida Operations Office, 525 Ridgevalley Road, Clewiston, on Saturday, April 1, 8 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The event will begin with registration from 8 to 8:30 a.m. Morning activities include tree planting, litter pick-up, construction of bird houses and feeders, and trail maintenance around various locations of the Florida National Scenic Trail. All volunteers will be able to

Bowhunting course scheduled by Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission

Have you ever wondered how the hunter fits in to modern day conservation efforts? Are you concerned about how to handle a bow and arrow? These are just a few of the instructional areas covered in the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission's Bow Hunting Course.

Students will also receive "hands-on" experience shooting a bow and arrow on the range. Students are encouraged to bring their own bow hunting equipment.

This course will satisfy the requirement for some other states that require a special bow hunting course before issuing licenses.

The next course in Palm

Beach County is being offered at Gold Coast Archery, on Belvedere Road, between Drexell and the Turnpike. It will meet on Saturday, Feb. 25, from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Gator Tales

Glades Day students "said it with flowers" this past Tuesday when they celebrated Valentine's Day by sending carnations to friends and loved ones. The carnations were courtesy of the Sophomore Class, who delivered the flowers along with a personal message for $1 each. The project is an annual fund raiser for the 10th graders who save the proceeds for their junior year when they sponsor the Junior/Senior Prom.

CONGRATULATIONS are in order for Josh Tripp and Kaelle Fontaine, the new Little Mr. and Miss GDS. Josh, a K-4 student, is the son of Jimmy Tripp and Rebecca Steadley. Kaelle is the daughter of Andy and Marilu Fontaine. She is in K-5. First runner-up positions went to Justin McNeil and Desarae Davis.

Congratulations also go to the varsity girls basketball team who won the district championship with a 47-36 win over Moore Haven last Friday. Fans saw some exciting action as both teams kept the score close, with the Gators putting the game away in the final minute of play. They advanced to sub-regionals this past Tuesday, hosting King's Academy.

The varsity boys basketball team wound up their regular season of play last weekend and will now host Moore Glade Municipal Golf Course.

Area residents receive CDA Credential

Camille Franklin, Martha Gray, Carolyn Williams, Dionysius Alexander, and Sharon Willis, all of Belle Glade, were recently awarded a Child Development Associate (CDA) Credential in recognition of outstanding work with young children. The credential was awarded by the Council for Early Childhood Professional Recognition in Washington, D.C. which represents the early childhood profession.

CDA is the only major national effort to improve child care by evaluating and recognizing the skills of individuals providing care. The first credential was awarded 20 years ago, and now 46 states plus the District of Columbia include CDA in their child licensing regulations.

Parents who use child care are especially concerned today about their children's welfare. With this in mind, as part of the CDA assessment process, every candidate for the CDA credential is observed working with young children by an early childhood professional. In addition, the candidate must demonstrate the ability to work with families to develop children's physical and intellectual capabilities in a stage. It will begin with a series of television, newspaper, radio and billboard public service announcements warning people to "pay up or walk" because their drivers' license will be suspended if they don't pay child support.

The campaign will run in three

Dr. Kaki named to special board
Dr. Karim Kaki recently received a letter from the American Board of Internal Medicine congratulating him for passing the August 1994 Certifying Exam. He will be listed as a Diplomate in the Directory of Certified Internists where it is next published.

For a physician whose specialty is internal medicine, to attain certification as a Diplomate, one must meet eligibility requirements and pass a rigorous exam. This exam covers all areas of internal medicine including cardiology, endocrinology, hematology, infectious diseases, oncology, renal diseases, pulmonary diseases and rheumatologist diseases. The exam also covers geriatrics and preventive medicine.

Dr. Kaki completed medical school at the University of Wuerzburg in West Germany and completed his residency at the Lutheran Medical Center in Cleveland, Ohio. He took training in specialty areas of his field in various hospitals in the metropolitan Cleveland area.

"To be a Diplomate of the American Board of Internal Medicine was my ultimate goal as an internist. For me, it is a dream come true," said Dr. Kaki. "Having good friends and good patients has provided me with an incentive to be the very best that I can be. There's more satisfaction for me to do the best that I can for my patients. They have been the driving force behind helping me to attain this goal."

It was a chance encounter with local physician Martha Valiant in the early 1980s that introduced Dr. Kaki to the Glades area where he decided to make his home. Thus he moved his family to Clewiston and established his practice at 406 South Deane Duff Avenue.

He and his wife Miriam are the parents of five children: Amir, Kaseem, Ayman, Haitham and Amy.

Haven for the district championship this Friday at 7 p.m. Admission for adults and students will be $4 as set by the FHSAA.

Glades Day welcomes new second grade teacher Ron Kooi, who is replacing Cecilia Thompson on the West Campus. Mrs. Thompson is leaving with her husband, Paul, who has been offered the assistant pastor position in Jensen Beach. They will be making their home in Port St. Lucie. We'll miss her!

For the first time in six years there will be a golf team at GDS - not one - but two golf teams. With so many boys going out, Coach Lamar Landino decided to have a JV team as well as a varsity team, splitting 19 players between the two groups. The boys begin play on Feb. 21 in Okeechobee. Their home matches will be at the Belle Glade Municipal Golf Course.

For a healthy learning environment.

The CDA credential is having a positive effect on the quality of child care. Its impact is evident in center-based care as well as family child care, the most common form of care for children under 5 years old.

Child care staff and parents wanting information on CDA should write the Council for Early Childhood Professional Recognition at 1341 G Street N.W., Suite 400, Washington, D.C. 20005-3105. The telephone number is (202) 265-9090 or 1-800-424-4310.

stage. It will begin with a series of television, newspaper, radio and billboard public service announcements warning people to "pay up or walk" because their drivers' license will be suspended if they don't pay child support.

The third stage will feature a statewide sweep by Florida sheriffs to arrest deadbeats who have defied court orders to pay.

"The message should be loud and clear: the State of Florida is serious about child support enforcement," Mr. Fuchs said. "We are going to come down hard on deadbeats who repeatedly thumb their nose at the system."

Mr. Fuchs said the department intends to distinguish between the issue of unpaid child support and other issues frequently voiced by non-paying parents, such as visitation rights.

"Parents often refuse to pay child support because of a dispute with their ex-spouse or partner over visitation or custody. Although visitation and custody are valid concerns, they are separate from a court order to provide the dollars needed to feed, clothe and nurture the child," Mr. Fuchs said. "The department's mission is to get the money to the children. We intend to carry out that mission."

Raider Log

By Lindsay Bennett

Thespian initiation week wrapped up last Wednesday and will conclude with an induction ceremony this Monday. Initiates have had to do everything from wearing their clothes inside out, to barking like a dog, to singing "I'm a Little Teapot". There are six initiates this year and they are Lindsay Bennett-ninth grade, Lonette Bolden-ninth grade, Rosenwald's students commemorated the 100th Day of school with a bang. Annually, the 100th Day is celebrated in new and unique ways. Displays of items in 100's: pieces of colored cereal string into necklaces, paper clips, pennies, beans, miniature animals, toothpicks, shells, lots of animals, pictures outlined with 100 pieces of various items. Additionally, goodies were marketed by the 100's: cups of juice, Tootsie Rolls, chips and Blow Pops. Fun for all in 100 ways.

The Black History Month poster/banner contest was a great success. The winners of the contest was Mrs. Sledge's pre-kindergarten and Mrs. Allen's first grade classes. The winners will enjoy Blow Pops for the entire group. Keep up the good school spirit kids!

Carlene Anderson from the Zora Neale Hurston Roof Garden Museum did a commendable job with Interactive Story-telling activities as a part of Black History Month. Ms. Anderson's presentations were given in two segments. Four classes of kindergartners enjoyed "What's Under My Bed", and "That's Good, That's Bad". First and second graders played the "Why Is" game and "What Shape Is This". Folk tales "Bruh Alligator Meets Trouble" and "Little Eight John" were shared by both groups.

For several weeks, Firefighter Frank (J.R. Frank) has given Rosenwald students an education on fire safety. The students do class activities that would include learning "Fire is a Tool not a Toy", the proper use of 911, locating exit and practice drills at home in the event of an actual fire. Stop, drop and roll techniques are taught in addition to the usefulness and testing of fire detectors. A tour of the fire truck is then given with an explanation under demonstration of equipment. The students in pre-kindergarten through second grade are now pretty fire savvy with their new safety knowledge. Hats off to Firefighter Frank and his assistants for the marvelous learning experience.

HIPPY Parent Night was held Wednesday, Feb. 15 in the school's cafeteria. The night was a "Get to Know HIPPY Families", and refreshments were served. HIPPY children whose birthdays fall between the months of January and February were honored and they also received a gift.
